

Feast of the Universe: A Concert in Song and Liturgy celebrating the Divine in creation, will take place at St Michael's Parish, 25 South Street, Litchfield, CT at 7PM Friday October 29, 2010. Soloist Teresa Eickel and pianist Djordje Stevan Nestic will present art songs interspersed with world liturgies and poetry. Anne Rowthorn author of Feast of the Universe, and, Andrea Cohen-Kiener, contributor, will read selections from the book. The concert is free of charge and is open to all.

A cheese and wine reception, featuring local, seasonal and humane foods, including wine from the Litchfield wine trail, will follow the performance. Free will offerings will benefit the Interreligious Eco-Justice Network (www.irejn.org); IREJN brings the power and passion of people of faith to bear on environmental solutions. Books by authors Dr. Anne Rowthorn and Rabbi Andrea Cohen Kiener will be available for purchase and signing. Performers Teresa Eickel and Djordje Stevan Nestic look forward to greeting guests.

Hosts for the event include graduates of This Old House of Worship, an energy auditing class offered by IREJN to area congregations: St. Michael's Parish, United Methodist Church, the First Congregational Church, and Trinity Episcopal Church at Milton, St Anthony of Padua Roman Catholic Church, Litchfield and the Church of Christ Congregational, Goshen.

For more information on the book, Feast of the Universe, see www.annerowthorn.com, for Teresa Eickel, see www.teresaeickel.com, and for information on the Interreligious Eco Justice Network see www.irejn.org

Contact: Rabbi Andrea Cohen-Kiener andrea@irejn.org

Interreligious Eco-Justice Network - Connecticut's Interfaith Power and Light

860-231-8554 www.irejn.org